OCEAN FREIGHT MARKET UPDATE

2020 will be remembered by many as one of the years that has caused maximum upheaval in terms of freight rates, space and equipment capacity in all markets around the world.

5 reasons global shipping costs will continue to rise:

- Continued global imbalances push prices up further
- Few alternatives to ocean freight
- An unbalanced recovery throughout 2021
- Reduced blank sailings will help ease capacity constraints
- Port congestion and closures keep creating delays

BLACK PEPPER

2021 harvest season of Vietnam black pepper is complete, and the crop production was 10% smaller than normal production level. Indonesia black pepper season starts from July 2021 and the crop is expected to be shorter by 10%. Black pepper price has increased by 40% as compared to January 2021 price and has increased by more than 100% as compared to October 2019 price. Current price for Black Pepper from Vietnam is USD 3.90 per kg [Oct 2019 - USD 1.90 per kg, Jan 2021 - USD 2.70 per kg). We are expecting international black pepper prices to keep increasing for the next 3 - 4 years.

Black pepper season in Sri Lanka was expected to start from May 2021. We are expecting 40% reduction in crop production as compared to normal production level. Sri Lanka is in lockdown from April 2021. There was minimal interest from farmers and traders in plucking and processing black pepper due to covid related restrictions. This should lead to green pepper getting mature and not feasible for extraction purpose. We are expecting an acute shortage of black pepper from Sri Lanka.
